INPEX CORPORATION (INPEX), through its subsidiary Japan Oil Development Co., Ltd. (JODCO), hosted 10 female students from the UAE University and the Petroleum Institute (PI) for a training program on oil development technology and cultural exchanges held from August 3 to August 23, 2014.

JODCO began hosting students from the UAE University for training programs in Japan 21 years ago in 1993, and invitations to PI students commenced in 2007. Over this three week training period, students undergo practical training and lectures on oil development technology and also engage in cultural exchanges between the UAE and Japan. A total of 147 students have participated in this program, and most graduates work in oil companies in the UAE, such as Abu Dhabi National Oil Company.

INPEX strives to maintain and enhance its relationship with the UAE not only through its oil development activities but also through training young UAE engineers.
